State Rep. DeGeeter Presents Teen Summit Award at Normandy High School

State Representative Timothy DeGeeter partnered with Cox Communications to educate teens on the importance of Internet Safety. Cox Communications and DeGeeter sponsored an Essay contest requiring teens to write about safety concerns on the web. The contest was open to high school students from local jurisdictions, including Broadview Heights, Brooklyn Heights, Fairview Park, Lakewood, Olmsted Falls, Olmsted Township, Parma, Parma Heights, Seven Hills and Rocky River.

The winner of this year's contest is Nicole Septaric of Seven Hills. Nicole, a freshman at Normandy High School in Parma will be representing Cox Communications at the Teen Summit on Internet Safety in Washington D.C. on July 21-23. Children's advocate, John Walsh will moderate this event amongst other members of Congress.

DeGeeter along with Public Affairs Director, Stacie Schaefer presented Nicole with her award during a surprise visit to Normandy High School on May 30th. DeGeeter also donated a digital camera to her for her trip to Washington.
